Your Business

Your Business

Your business is important to you. It is important to us. Whatever your business, you must have sound legal advice. In that way, you can ensure that your business needs are met. We are able to offer you a complete, cost effective service.

Business Start-ups

Busbys can advise you on the way to set up your business, be it forming a company, a partnership or trading as a sole trader. We will guide you through your business plan, assist you with your bank, and do the legal work necessary to create your company or partnership.

Property

We can assist you in obtaining the right premises for your business as we have enormous experience in the buying and leasing of commercial property. We will be pleased to help you expand your business premises including resolving all planning and development issues.

Litigation

Busbys will be pleased to help you to resolve all your legal disputes. We can act for you in the collection of unpaid bills. We will help you resolve any contractual disputes. We will represent you in any claims brought against you and appear for you in all courts and tribunals.

General Advice

We will bring to your aid our vast range of expertise over many areas of law. We can offer legal clinics to your staff on your own premises by arrangement if you seek to give added value to your employees' working lives. We are happy to act as a sounding board, and a critical friend whenever you need advice.

Related Matters

We take a holistic approach for all our clients. If we can assist you in your personal affairs such as drafting your will and advising you on reducing the tax burden to your estate we will do so.

Employment

We will help you to meet all your legal requirements when you engage staff. We can draft service agreements and terms of employment, guiding you through the minefield of legislation to ensure you are compliant with employment law. We are able to assist in any disputes which may arise on the termination of employment.

Health and Safety

We can help you undertake your health and safety risk assessments, advise you on your legal obligations, and train your staff on health and safety procedures and precautions.
